USING THE AVERY INDEX TO LOCATE ARTICLES FOR RESEARCH

The Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals lists journal articles that cover the history and practice of architecture, landscape architecture, city planning, historic preservation, interior design and decoration. Citation Information identifies an article and helps you evaluate its quality for your research.

Finding and Evaluating an Article's Citation Information

Example Search Result: The article titled "Berlin Phoenix: Jewish Museum, Berlin, Germany"

Step 1

Click on the article's title. In this example, the article's title is "Berlin Phoenix: Jewish Museum, Berlin, Germany"

Step 2

View the article's Full Citation Record. See the example on the right, under Details

Step 3

Evaluate the article's key citation features such as: Document Feature indicates if the article has

- photos,
- sections,
- plans, site plans,
- axonometric drawings

Publication Title: The title of the publication is Architectural review. Is this a recognized and trustworthy source?

Pages: The article is on pages 40-47. It is 7 pages long. Based on page count, will this article provide enough detail for your research needs?

Publication Year determines how recent and relevant the article will be to your research topic.
